My Happy Roblox Life

One day in Roblox I made a user name called Astywasty and my avatar had bacon hair. I wanted to play a Tycoon for my first game. I played and made friends. My mum got me Robux to spend in the game shop. I bought a bear and my friend some Ethan clothes, who had changed his avatar. I changed as well so I dressed up as… I forgot.

I played a game with a rainbow theme and it was full of colours, it was awesome but it was an obby, which means parkour, to get free robux. I asked my Mum if I could have this free game, but then I left because I was smart enough to know it's a scam. When I got a new tablet for my birthday, I played my favourite game, it didn't kick me out, and I was like OMG! Yay! Then some months later, I got a secret pet, but it was a fake secret pet. After checking the stats, I stopped for some days for a rest.

Then one day one of my friends and I borrowed a pet and he offered me his pet. He gave me an Easter overlord, but 5 minutes later he called me a scammer, so I traded the pet for the Teddy Bear through the game and got a cat mouse for free. I traded it away for a Kraken Couplet. In 2018 I was so happy that I made a Roblox account people called me a noob, which is the nickname for someone who is not very good at playing it. I was so sad but then I saw a game called Mining Simulator. I played it. It was my favourite game and I opened a legendary hat and gave it away for a mythical pet. I was super happy and called it Christmas Despisito. I told my Mum and someone gave me another pet and when I got it someone traded me gave me about 15 Mythicals for one mythical. I told everyone.

One day, I met a person online and we were friends. We were kind to each other and played adopt me, but we were over powered. We met another person and we were all friends. I asked them to let me play Mining Simulator, but I left the game and I played an obby. It was ok but I was like, ha ya YAAAAA, I'm going make to the end of the obby. When I did, I left the game an played a simulator. When I joined a simulator, I thought I was the best player in the game and then I that didn't. When I left I went to play a make your own pizza game. I got VIP and so much cool skins.

Yesterday I made a new account. Before I made a new account I played a game and it's called hopeless. I think. One day one of my friends borrowed my secret pet and he accidently traded it away, so I made him try to get it back and I was mad at him and he's now on a look for one for me. I was so scared because I might not get a secret pet back.

I got hacked. I was so upset, I met Roblox in real life and asked let's try to get my account back, so he tried for me. But Roblox got hacked too. Everyone in Robloxian City was hiding in shops and under cars but then the Robloxian hero came to save Roblox. They fought the bad guys and no luck they destroyed Robloxian City. Everyone was so scared, but the hero got up and fought all the bad guys, he took down a lot of them. They used fire to burn them then ice to freeze them and one used speed to make them dizzy, but the boss picked up a double decker bus and threw it and knocked one out. A hero helped him out but he was weak so he had to rest but one of the heroes went behind the boss and shut him off. He was scared so he ran into the water and Robloxian City was saved and Roblox was not hacked anymore then everyone was happy.