

The Secret of Happiness by AB

Again, all I can hear are my own thoughts. It is lonely in a world where there so many people but nobody to keep you company. Ever since the tsunami came, everyone had to stay inside for a month, I've been downhearted ever since.

I've watched a lot of TV, the same programme on repeat. When I haven't been watching TV, I have been cleaning like Cinderella. My house is so clean, it's like a mirror. Unhappy, bored and sleepy. Enough is enough.

I decide to face my fears and go to the park. I'd do anything to see my friends. I was scared, I'll admit, but when I got to the park I saw my friends then I went over to them and said "hello" then they said "hi, we missed you!". I was relieved to see that they were coping okay. I ask if they want to come and talk to this kid who looks very depressed. They disagreed, but I don't want to leave anybody behind so I walked over cautiously. I then said "are you ok?" and he was crying. I feel so sly on this kid because he was upset and he looked scared, but I was not sure. So after I asked if he would like to come and play with me and my friends. He replied "that would be very nice and I like you because you are very kind". I went back with him to my friends and then they were mean to the boy and I didn't know what to do. I was confused. Do I join in with my friends and be mean to the boy or do I stand up for the innocent boy? After that, I begged my friends "please can you stop, because it's not very nice". Later, I chose to go with the boy.

I was curious about the boy. I decided to ask him some questions. He told me his name was "Isaac". There was just something about him; he's captivating, hilarious and has the best hair I've ever seen. As the days go by, I realise that I really like him as more than a friend. I wonder if he likes me too. I pluck up the courage to ask. I walked towards Isaac nervously. "Can I ask you something?" my cheeks were red like fire and burning up. He agreed. I asked "Do you like me as more than a friend?" to my relief he said "yes". I was so happy. I decided to ask him to be my boyfriend. "Of course" he replied. 2 days later I rang him and said "Hi babe" he replied "Hi babe" and I ask how he was, he said he was good and we agree to go back to that same park we met. We played football then he went home. 1 week later we broke up because he was cheating on me with some girl. I was very upset because I loved him so much. I was starting to move on then I liked some boy but I didn't ask him out because I was scared. So I went home and played on my x box and met a new friend. We played Fornite and a car game and then I when out for food.

The next day is was my birthday then I when to a play out with my friends then later it was time to go bed. Next day when I was on my Xbox he asked me out on x box so I said "yeah". Then we got together and we were together for 2 years. I went to shop then came back and went to bed. After I said "bye" and we were happy. I was then able to become friends with the people who were mean to the boy now I don't care about him he is history. Later on I was playing on my x box with my boyfriend. This is my happy end ...