

When will it end?

Chapter 1 – Ordinary World

Christen is a 16-year-old boy who is adventurous and has brown short hair and blue eyes. He has just finished his maths homework, gotten into bed and was trying to get to sleep. But, like every night, he was struggling because he was worried about his family catching Covid-19.

Christen usually sleeps like a rock, but because of the virus, the days are so boring and slow that he just wants to skip to the next day.

His eyes start to close and he feels happy because he would finally be getting to sleep. He felt his head start to spin as he lost consciousness.

Chapter 2 – The Real World

Christian wakes up and picks up a reading book like he does every morning before school, but this time he couldn't read the words, they were not there, all the pages were blank.

Confused he looks through his other books but they are also blank.

Creeped out he knew he had to go to school else he would be in trouble so he decides he will investigate it later when he gets home.

Getting changed he takes his clean clothes and goes to the bathroom. He looks in the mirror and picks up his toothbrush to brush his teeth. Once he has finished with his teeth he checks them to see if they are clean. They are not just clean but razor sharp just like a shark's teeth.

He's terrified but decides to put on a mask hoping with all the covid-19 everybody would think it's just kind of normal.

He gets his bag and goes to school.

Chapter 3 – A world of bullies

Christen arrives at school, he's walking through the hallway and just about to put his stuff in his locker when a bully appears behind him. The bully speaks to him and says 'you finally decided to cover up your ugly face I see'.

He tries to punch him in the face but for some reason Christen didn't feel anything so then he punched the bully and he went flying through the hallway and evaporated into thin air.

This shocked him but he starts realizing that he must be dreaming.

He calms down but when he enters a classroom he wakes up in his bed.

Chapter 4 – World on Fire

When Christen gets up he starts to burn up a lot when he looks at his body he is fully ignited in fire. He looks outside the window and the whole entire street is on fire.

He turns on his TV in his bedroom and the news shows his whole country on fire.

He walks outside and sees that everybody else is not on fire, and since they see that he is the only one on fire they think he's the one that set fire to everything. The people try to hit him but it doesn't bother him because he realizes this is another dream, a dream within a dream. But then the punches hurt and he realizes that he could actually die here and gets scared.

He tries to hit one of the people but they set on fire, the person doesn't die but is scared then he realizes he's not going to die, as the fire spreads to other people. The people are sad though because they will never be able to go back to normal again.

Chapter5 WW3

Waking up with a fright Christian sees that he is in a bunker and comes to realize that he's still trapped in this endless dream

Spotting a metal door which he tries, it finally opens and inside he sees lots of skulls in one pile but for some reason all of their jaws are in another pile.

Feeling like he is being watched he sees a figure cloaked in all black who look mysterious, when the figure looks at Christen he sees that he is a robot and has glowing red eyes. He can tell that this thing is something he shouldn't be near and is disturbed. Running back in to the bunker and closing the door he then tries to hide under the bed where he started. The robot just simply touches the metal door and it drips and melts right in front of Christens eyes.

The robot walks into the room and grabs his leg in a tight hold and tugs him out from under the bed. Christen takes out a dagger which for some reason was in his pocket. He then tries to slash the robots wires but for some reason they just won't break.

Christian tries to slip away from the robot and tries to get out of the bunker. The robot teleports next to him turning to dust before becoming solid, grabbing Christen he picks him up by his ankles so he is upside down. The robot slashes Christen in his stomach with a blade, he screams....

Chapter 6 World of Trickery

Christen wakes up lying in a white room with a black and white checked floor. He tries to find a way out but there are no windows or doors, it's like a box with nothing in.

Looking down at the floor he sees that it starts to distort and move, creating a funnel. It starts getting bigger until it spreads through the whole room. For some reason he doesn't fall when the room gets to him, but then scared he tries climbing up the walls to get to a safe place and falls down. This time when he falls to the floor he starts falling down the hole and is very scared. landing on another chequered floor however, for some reason it didn't hurt when he hit the ground.

Gleefully he saw a door in the wall and started getting excited that he would find an exit. However, he is far too distracted by his own excitement that he didn't realize that the checked floor started to slope, backing up to the other end of the room the floor starts slopping the other way like a see-saw.

Christian starts to try and grip on but he starts to slip down until he is dangling down by one hand with nothing but a black void below him. He falls endlessly and screams a never ending scream.

Christian wakes up in a cold sweat in his bed

He tries to pinch himself and feels pain,

He feels his teeth with his tongue and they are back to normal

He looks out of the window and everything he sees is how it should be

He checks his tummy for the wound, but there is nothing there

He pushes the floor with his foot to see if anything happens, but it seems solid

Relieved he picks up the story he was reading, and it seems fine except the last page is blank...

The End
